

Let Me Be A Window © 1997 Cynthia R. Crossen

How can I open my heart and let it break? G#m - Asus

How can I open my heart in faith, G#m - Asus

That this strong love can sustain me in my sorrow? E - A - G#m

Let me be a window Asus

Through which your warm love can pour, Asus - E

Let me be a window, Asus

And let your sunlight pour through me. Asus - E - Asus - Bsus - B

How can I stay with myself in this hurting place? G#m - Asus

Tender and aching and open in this space G#m - Asus

Where the blue sky unfolds its face to the blue within me? E - A - G#m

Let me be a window Asus

Through which your breath of truth can pour, Asus - E

Let me be a window Asus

And let your blue sky pour through me. Asus - E - Asus - Bsus - B

Always I dwell in the very heart of your mystery, G#m - Asus

Deep in your vastness I dwell, in your beauty G#m - Asus

That surrounds me and shines forth from within me. E - A - G#m

Let me be a window Asus

Through which your deep night can pour Asus - E

Let me be a window Asus

And let your stars shine forth through me. Asus - E - Asus - Bsus - B

Let me be a window Asus

Through which your warm love can pour Asus - E

Let me be a window Asus

And let your sunlight pour through me. Asus - E - Asus - Bsus - B
